

Chapter 34 Wilding Exotic Trees

This table identifies provisions subject to and consequentially affected by appeals:

Provision Subject To Appeal (identified in red text in the relevant chapter/s)	Appellant Court Number	Consequentially Affected Provisions
Objective 34.2.1	Royal Forest and Bird Protection Society of New Zealand ENV-2018-CHC-133

This table identifies new provisions sought to be added:

Appellant Court Number	Provision/s Sought to be Added
Royal Forest and Bird Protection Society of New Zealand ENV-2018-CHC-133	Insert new text to Section 34.1 purpose: Wilding trees are spreading across parts of the District and have visually degraded parts of the landscape, biodiversity values and can threaten the productive values of the soil resource, and reduce on water yield . The spread of wilding trees has left other areas vulnerable to landscape and biodiversity degradation.

Note: the annotations in this chapter reflect the Council's interpretation of the provisions affected by appeals.

Purpose

The purpose of these provisions is to prevent the spread of wilding exotic trees. Wilding is the term used for the natural regeneration or seedling spread of exotic trees, occurring in unintended locations and not managed for forestry production.

The District values and relies on its distinctive landscapes, open spaces and rural productive land for its social, cultural and economic wellbeing. Wilding trees are spreading across parts of the District and have visually degraded parts of the landscape, biodiversity values and can threaten the productive values of the soil resource. The spread of wilding trees has left other areas vulnerable to landscape and biodiversity degradation.

The Council manages existing wilding trees through the non-statutory document, 'The Wakatipu Wilding Conifer Strategy'. The District Plan also has a role in reducing the potential for wilding tree spread by controlling the planting of wilding potential species.

Objective and Policies

34.2.1 Objective - Protection of the District's landscape, biodiversity and soil resource values from the spread of wilding exotic trees.

Amend Objective 34.2.1: Protection of the District's landscape, biodiversity and water and soil resource values from the spread of wilding exotic trees.	Royal Forest and Bird Protection Society of New Zealand ENV-2018-CHC-133

- Policy
- 34.2.1.1 Avoid the further spread of identified wilding tree species by prohibiting the planting of identified species.
 - 34.2.1.2 Ensure that any planting and ongoing management of Radiata pine (Pinus radiata) is effective and can be practicably managed to avoid the adverse effects of the spread of wilding trees and degradation to the landscape.
 - 34.2.1.3 That any proposal for the planting and ongoing management of Radiata pine (Pinus radiata) shall consider the following to ensure the spread of wilding trees can be contained:
 - a. The location and potential for wilding take-off, having specific regard to the slope and exposure to wind;
 - b. The surrounding land uses and whether these would reduce the potential for wilding spread;

- c. The ownership of the surrounding land and whether this would constrain the ability to manage wilding spread;
- d. Whether management plans are proposed for the avoidance or containment of wilding spread;
- e. Whether a risk assessment has been completed and the results are favourable to the proposal.
