Photograph 1: Near Mr Semple's Viewpoint Y. The subject site is on the extreme left of the flat terrace, behind the treed hills that lie to the site's immediate northeast. No building platform profile poles were visible from this location. Existing built development in Central Arthur's Point can be seen on the edge of the terrace above the viewer.

Photograph 2: Near Mr Semple's Viewpoint V. Again, the subject site is on the extreme left of the flat terrace. One profile pole, marking the building platform on Lot 38 of the GSL/LEL relief could be seen (highlighted in red). Again, existing built development in Central Arthur's Point can be seen.
